

CHECK IN PROCEDURE AT THE RIFLE & PISTOL RANGE

- 1. The only location firearms can be handled is on the firing line. No unloading in the parking lot and no checking your action in the parking lot prior to going to the shooting benches.
- 2. All firearms must be cased when moving to or from the range.
- 3. Upon arrival at the range you will leave your cased firearm secured in your vehicle. All firearms must be in a hard or soft case. No gun socks.
- 4. Contact the RSO, sign in, pay any fees required, purchase targets and chamber flags if needed, and receive a safety briefing from the RSO related to range procedures and firearm safety rules.
- 5. If you have extra gear, chronograph, spotting scope, sandbags or rests, these items will be taken to the firing table separate from your firearms. The range has wheeled carts to transport your gear.
- 6. Moving gear to the shooting bench only happens when the range is hot. Nothing goes to the shooting bench during a ceasefire when the range is cold. Going down range and setting your target and frame occurs during ceasefire/cold range as directed by the RSO.
- 7. Retrieve your cased firearm and place it at an open shooting position when the range is hot. Once there, make sure muzzle is downrange, open the action, insert a chamber flag and the RSO will clear your gun as being safe.
- 8. Loaner cases will be provided if you don't have one. They will get dusty and dirty quickly, so if you care for your guns, it would be in your interest to obtain your own.
- 9. Hard plastic cases and soft cases are acceptable. The trigger and action must be covered and not accessible.
- 10. Cases with multiple firearms must have the muzzles pointed in the same direction. A case that does not close securely must be replaced. A pistol in your pocket or waistband without a holster will be cause for dismissal from the range.
- 11. Holstered guns must have a retention mechanism and the holster must cover the trigger and trigger guard.
